

Victor Valley Church of Christ

October 28, 2018

As followers of Christ, we know that a day will come, when we will be judged by our savior Jesus Christ. But while we are here on Earth, we face judgements of lesser consequence all the time. Not only do we face judgements from others, but we in turn, judge others and ourselves as well.

One type of judgement that we face is that of public opinion. The outside world, many times, does not think twice about casting judgement upon the actions and beliefs of the Church and Christians. While the opinion of man does matter to some; this judgment should not be our greatest concern. When we look at the life and ministry of Jesus, many people made judgments against what he was doing. But he did not let that stop his ministry and what he was sent to do.

The next type of judgement that we face is that of our own conscience. In our judgments of ourselves we can be overly critical, to the point it affects our faith. There are other times that our conscience seems to be lacking. When we commit sin, we do not feel any condemnation for our actions that are contrary to the desires of God.

In the end the only Judgement that matters, is that which will be performed by Jesus when he comes again as stated in 1 Corinthians 4:4-5. As Christians we should always seek to do the will of Jesus and not let the judgements of this world or on our conscience stop us from spreading the gospel.
